

Don't be a Digital Dumper

Each year several tones of electrical waste including TVs are fly-tipped in Wales. With the digital switch over in full swing in Cardiff, Fly-tipping Action Wales is asking the public to dispose of their old unwanted TV in a responsible way to prevent an increase in the level of fly-tipped waste.

Gary Inight, Fly-tipping Action Wales South East Co-ordinator, said: "If you've got a new TV for the digital switch over make sure you dispose of your old one in a responsible way. Cardiff Council will collect old TV's free of charge as part of their bulky waste collection, but please do try to recycle your TV set at your local Household Waste Recycling Centre as a first option. For more advice on where and how to get rid of waste responsibly log onto www.flytippingactionwales.org."

Caption: (L-R) Joe Mathias, Environment Officer, Environment Agency Wales, Gary Inight, Fly-tipping Action Wales South East Co-ordinator, and Dave Parfitt, Merthyr Common Ranger find an old TV dumped at Merthyr Common.